

IMPLANT SUPPORTED HYBRID DENTURE

IMPLANT RETAINED REMOVABLE DENTURES

This option utilizes several implants to support and retain a denture which is attached to the implants with small screws that are submerged in the denture itself. You would not remove this denture, but a dentist can remove it, if necessary.

The advantages are that you can chew almost anything and there is no chance that it will slip; and the disadvantage is that it is more of a challenge to clean under the denture base.

This option can be placed on the same day that your remaining teeth are removed; you don't go without teeth at all.
